Shadow of Night (All Souls Trilogy #2) by Deborah Harkness, Chapter One. We arrived in an undignified heap of witch and vampire. Matthew was underneath me, his long limbs bent into an uncharacteristically awkward position. A large book was squashed between us, and the force of our landing sent the small silver figurine clutched in my hand sailing across the floor. "Are we in the right place

Yet no shadow can be cast without light, and the world would long ago have fallen to the Night Kings if they were unbeatable. Across all of Eredane, one being is powerful enough to answer the Night Kings and counter their plans outright. One being is feared by them, both singly and as a group. She is Aradil, Witch Queen of Erethor, and she is a goddess within her kingdom. The players may

Resistance to the Shadow's armies is scattered, and even the largest armed bands number in the hundreds or low thousands; to gather in larger numbers risks drawing the full attention of the Fist of Shadow. The years of fighting and deprivation have winnowed out the weak and forged a core of hardened and desperate fighters. It is these warriors who are the sole hope for the people of Eredane.
